Driving to CERC

The CERC is located between Manilla and Marin Streets in Jersey City. This is about 200 yards south from the entrance to the Holland Tunnel going into Manhattan. Marin is the last street before the entrance to (or exit from) the tunnel on the New Jersey side. If exiting the tunnel from New York City, turn left at the first traffic light in NJ. If coming from New Jersey follow the signs to the Holland Tunnel and turn right at the last traffic light before the tollbooths. After passing under an overpass bridge, the entrance to the parking lot for the CERC is on the right. The CERC has free parking in front of the building.

Directions to the Pavonia/Newport PATH Station

Mass transit users can reach the CERC by taking the PATH train to the Pavonia/Newport Station. Or the Hudson/Bergen Lite Rail System to Newport.

From Manhattan: the PATH train (fare $1.50) can be boarded at 6th Avenue and 32 St. (connections to subway trains F, W, Q, S—Penn. Station NY is one block west), 23rd St. 14th St. and 9th St. Also Christopher St. at Hudson. Take the PATH train to Journal Square (sign above the door is JSQ) or Newark (NWK). The stop is next after Christopher St. is Pavonia/Newport.

From Hoboken: (New Jersey Transit trains) take the PATH to Journal Square (sign above the door is JSQ) one stop to Pavonia/Newport.

From Newark: Amtrack and New Jersey Transit trains in Penn Station Newark, take PATH 4 stops to Pavonia/Newport (33 St above door).
